Ahoy there all you travelers and would be travelers! The Broadway musical-classic aboard a cruise ship is coming to town for a few weekends and you do not want to miss it. Stage Right of Texas, Steve and Carolyn Corsano Wong's resident theatre company at the historic Crighton Theatre in downtown Conroe, will present the classic Cole Porter musical comedy "ANYTHING GOES" – opening on Friday evening February 14th and runs every Friday & Saturday until March 2nd with 2:00 p.m. Sunday matinees.

Producer Carolyn Corsano Wong indicated that "ANYTHING GOES" is set aboard an ocean cruise liner from New York to England and is set in the old time theme of musicals with the help of some outrageous disguises, fantastic tap-dancing sailors, and good-old-fashioned black mail and the principal characters eventually join forces to put on real kickline dancing show. Folks, this classic multi-awarding Broadway show – "ANYTHING GOES" is a glittering example of classic music theatre, complete with the amazing tap-dancing numbers, campy jokes, unlikely endings and eminently hummable songs like "Delovely," "I Get A kick Out Of You," and anything goes courtesy of the legendary Cole Porter.

Director Randy Bianchi and Musical Director Penny Andros have assembled a stunning cast to bring this happy tapping tale to the Crighton. Tickets are at reasonable family and group prices and are now available by calling Ticket Manager Kim Kelly daily in the theatre Box-office between 3:00 & 6:00 p.m. at: (936) 441-7469 – OR on line at: {www.crightontheatre.org }.
